

Autumn

Autumn is one of the four seasons. During autumn the days become shorter and colder. The leaves of deciduous trees change their colour to red, orange, yellow or brown and fall off.

Autumn means change for many birds and animals. Insect eating birds begin to migrate south for the winter because they can't find enough food.

Squirrels and mice store food to use throughout the winter. Some animals hibernate. Do you know which ones?

Christians throughout Europe celebrate Harvest at autumn time. They bring gifts of food to church for a festival of Thanksgiving. After the festival the food is given to people in need.
